1. Attached is the first part of a list of instruments, which have been and are being developed and constructed at the Obersproewerke. The list will be continued and an attempt will be made to make it as complete as possible to obtain an accurate picture of instrument development at OSW.
2. The list has three columns. The first column indicates the OSW blueprint number. The second column gives the nomenclature of the instrument. The third column refers to the OSW type designation of the instrument. This list is intended to serve as a basis for any future references to OSW instruments.
3. The OSW numbering system of its instruments starts with G 01 (see first column). It was decided, however, to leave some numbers open in order to assign them to new developments of the same instruments. The idea is to have consecutive numbers for the development series of one instrument. If, however, more developments of one instrument should occur than there are numbers reserved for it, the numbering system will get out of order since a leap out of the row of consecutive numbers could possibly not be avoided.
4. Attention is called to the fact that the list contains two different blueprint numbers for the spectrum analyzer OSW Type 2058, namely G 91 and G 129. A check will be made to determine whether this is merely an oversight or whether the different blueprint numbers refer to different developments of the Spectrum Analyzer 2058.
